Interesting and informative, Perspectives on Contract Law is an anthology of legal scholarship that presents both seminal and cutting-edge writing by luminaries in the field. Selected and edited by Randy Barnett with the first-year law student in mind, introductory text and Study Guides frame each article and helpfully suggest salient themes. Discover the features that have made Perspectives on Contract Law popular: more complete excerpts than are possible in a contracts casebook; a logical and modular organization that makes the book ideally suitable to any contracts course or casebook; a diversity of articles that reflect a variety of contract theorists and perspectives; original introductory text in each chapter that prepares students to get the most out of the articles that follow; one-paragraph Study Guides before each article stimulate discussion and engage students in the material. The exciting new Fourth Edition features: contributions from a new generation of contracts scholars, such as Aditi Bagchi, Curtis Bridgeman, Marco Jimenez, Dori Kimel, Gregory Klass, Ethan Leib, and Seana Shiffrin, along with additional content by Ian Ayres and Charles Fried; a new chapter on choosing default rules; new coverage of contract as promise. Enriching contracts courses through three editions, the timely selections in the Fourth Edition are sure to complement your casebook for Contracts.
